Quality wood offcuts. Simple, reusable materiality.

The Logs coat hook is made from quality wood offcuts that are not suitable for making chairs. Logs will come to you in packaging made from recycled cardboard and was packed in the HelpSoul workspace for people with disabilities.

Things can be thrown away... or happily reused. So go ahead and hang it on your wall!

“Logs is an excellent example of how a product can make sense on so many levels, when both parties – designer and manufacturer – put their heads together and think in the right direction.”

Designed by Büro Famos.

Hanna Litwin and Romin Heide established the Berlin design studio in 2012.

They jointly work on the design of the lights, furniture and accessories as well as on the creation of the corporate visual identity for various enterprises. They work with traditional technologies in a new way, for instance, with porcelain.

In the search for innovative procedures, they like combining various disciplines of product design. Their products are often based on ecological thinking and this element is always incorporated into their work in a gradual and inoffensive manner.
